

ID:I galleri has successfully thrived as an artist-run initiative since 2002 with 110 exhibitions taking place on its premises. The gallery recently celebrated its 10 year anniversary with the group exhibition “UnTied Notions” bringing together 37 current and past members and displaying a diverse range of artworks.

For Supermarket 2013, ID:I presents a group exhibition, “Composition in Black, White and Ceramic” featuring the works of ID:I members Åsa Franck, Ann Frössén, Ingrid Jons-son, Linda Karlsson and Örjan Wallert.

The aspect of individual diversity amongst the gallery’s members creates a point of in-spiration for the event. The contrasts created between black and white versus color, two dimensional versus three dimensional, as well as the differences between mediums are important elements used to explore how a selection of five unique artistic practices can be displayed together to form one unified composition.
